RURAL HOUSING

Rural families, even though not engaged in farming, may be eligible for 4½ housing loans made by the Farmers Home Administration.

The housing bill recently signed by President Kennedy contains features which will make more rural families eligible for this type of assistance. Previously only farmers could qualify for this type of credit.

Housing loans are made for the erection or repair of dwellings and essential farm buildings. Loans are repayable over periods up to 33 years.

For further information on this type of credit, contact the local Farmers Home Administration office at Farmville. Hunter P. Evans is county supervisor. Mr. Evans also has part-time office hours at Appomattox at the ASC office on Tuesday mornings from 9:00 to 9:30 A. M.

A Tribute To Dr. Southall

Since March, our community and the entire county have been praying that our friend and beloved physician, Dr. A. Rixey Southall, Jr. would be cured of one of the nation's topmost fatal diseases.

On Monday afternoon, July 24, 1961 around five-thirty o'clock his suffering ceased and he passed quietly into the "home of eternal rest."

Rixey, as he was affectionately known, came to this community only seven years ago and in such a short time there are few who are loved, admired, and respected more than he. He was wedded to his profession and whenever he could help those who were suffering, he was ready to untiringly administer to their needs.

He was active in the civic and social affairs of the community and was particularly interested in athletics, doing much to promote such activities at the county high school. He had recently spear-headed a fund-raising drive to purchase uniforms for the boys and girls basketball teams.
